

All three readings of today's liturgy point to issues of social justice. In an age in which self-interest and individualism often call the tune, we Christians must not neglect these issues. Our world is far more complex than that of Amos the prophet. Corruption has different forms these days – carefully concealed but just as sinful, because of the damage it does to the life of the community. The inequitable sharing of the world's resources, often artificially maintained, that contributes significantly to world tensions, should be a matter of concern for all Christians.

The situation described in the letter to Timothy is very different from ours – but at the same time so similar. The Christians of that community had no possibility of manipulating the levers of power in the politics of the Roman Empire. The Church should not endeavour to manipulate the political processes of today's democratic state. In both situations, however, Christians still have great responsibility, as citizens. We must make an honourable contribution to the common welfare, at whatever level we are involved. We must have no part in the corruption that can be very tempting, in the complex processes of today's social order. We must support legitimate authority; and have good will towards our fellow citizens, respecting their different points of view, and seeking to work together with them to make a just society. Our great contribution is the Christian values we live by – the vitality of a human community comes from the values to which its citizens are committed.

In today's gospel, we meet again Luke's concern to bring home to his fellow Christians the responsibilities and dangers brought by this world's possessions. All will be well in this area of our social responsibility, if our real concerns look beyond the material things that are a necessary part of our lives. If the Church today, as Pope Saint John Paul II said, renounces any desire 'to be a participant or competitor in the game of politics', it is called to contribute to the wellbeing of the human community by the witness and example it gives. Our lives, and the quality of our relationships as a Christian community, should demonstrate to our troubled world that living according to the ways Christ has given us is not a bondage, but a fulfilment.

The parable of the unjust steward is puzzling. Scholars are not agreed whether the 'astuteness' praised by his master was making fraudulent changes to his debtors' promissory notes, or his forgoing claims for the commission customary in such transactions. In either case the lesson is clear: those dedicated to worldly pursuits are often more wholehearted in their projects than believers are in promoting the things of God. We certainly have a long way to go, if the effective witness held up to us by John Paul II as a goal is to become a reality.

The children of this world are more astute than the children of light

OLS Refugee Resettlement Committee Update
We are pleased to advise that our parish has committed to sponsor three refugee groups. Two of these are traditional two parent families with young children from Iraq. The third group is made up of three young men from Syria and Iraq who have been grouped together to give them a chance to be resettled. While at this stage we have no further information about when these refugees will be arriving, (and the average wait time is about nine months), we look forward to the day that we can help them settle in Toronto. We greatly appreciate the prayers and support the parish community has provided so far and we will provide further updates as more information becomes available.

COMMUNITY

First Reconciliation & First Communion – General Notes

The Sacraments of Initiation are significant milestones in the faith journeys of our young parishioners. The Archdiocese notes that preparation for initiation is the shared responsibility of parents, the local Catholic school and the parish community. To be eligible to receive a sacrament at Our Lady of Sorrows, participants and their families must fulfill 3 conditions:

- (a) They must be registered as parishioners of OLS (NB: registration at OLS School or family history of sacraments received at OLS do NOT constitute parish registration);
- (b) They must regularly attend Sunday Mass;
- (c) Parents & children must participate in the relevant aspects of the program.

If your family does not regularly attend Sunday Mass at OLS and/or is not officially registered with a parish, you are welcome to register with the parish at this time and begin attending regularly. All other families should, at their earliest convenience, contact the parish nearest their home or the parish they regularly attend, for information on sacramental preparation.

Registration dates: Saturday, September 24 and Sunday, September 25.

Volunteers will be available in the Parish Hall after Mass to process registrations & collect fees.

Needs of the Canadian Church Special Collection Sunday, Sept. 25

The Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops is involved in national & international areas of pastoral activity, including social justice, ecumenical and interfaith relations, collaboration with Aboriginal Peoples, life and family issues, liturgy, catechesis, doctrine and relations with Catholic associations and movements. Each year the CCCB is asked to speak out, give leadership, or provide guidelines for the faithful on a wide variety of topics. In order for our bishops to make proper judgments on modern topics, they must have the benefit of research, expert advice and capable administration which is also funded by this collection. In addition to contributions, we are also asked to pray for the work of the Bishops and to participate in and cooperate with the various projects of the CCCB. Your generous support is greatly appreciated.

MOSAIC Canadian Vocal Ensemble

MOSAIC includes singers from OLS, the Toronto Choral Society, St. Michael's Choir School Alumni and other GTA choirs. The group rehearses at OLS and participates with OLS choirs in several parish events and Masses each year; they are planning a 2017 concert tour to Spain. Formed in 2011 as the Our Lady of Sorrows Ecumenical Choir, it became a community and touring choir and in 2015 rebranded as the MOSAIC Canadian Vocal Ensemble with a focus on contemporary Canadian repertoire. If you would like more information about the choir, and tour to Spain, please contact director Gordon Mansell through www.glionnamansell.com
